Thermometer
Simple, safe, reliable: ri-thermo® N is the new ergonomic infrared thermometer for uncomplicated use. Its innovative infrared technology not only allows ri-thermo® N to measure the body temperature of children and adults easily in a matter of seconds but also means that it can measure the temperature of surfaces, rooms and bathwater. The temperature values are displayed in a range from 0 to 100 °C or in ° Fahrenheit. Its large LCD display with backlighting makes the values easy to read. Even in the dark. Displays up to 12 stored temperatures. Temperature curves can also be plotted retrospectively or different measured values compared, so patients large and small can be monitored even more closely. The ri-thermo® N sounds a handy acoustic signal when it has finished measuring and if it detects a fever, has an energy-saving automatic switch-off function and comes with a hygienic storage container with probe covers. ri-thermo® N is clinically validated and is supplied with batteries.

Personal Protection for You and Your Patients

For years, masks have been designed to reduce the spread of airborne pathogens. More recent concern for protection from fluid-borne pathogens (HIV, SARS, etc.) has led to a recognition that masks must also be fluid resistant. ASTM International has released ASTMF 2100-04 to address this concern. The new standard establishes fluid-resistance minimum capabilities for three grades of masks.

General-Use Masks:
These masks are usually referred to as Procedure Masks. General-use masks must meet minimum filtration for bacteria and remain fluid-penetration resistant at a pressure of 80mm of mercury. These are the most popular masks used in healthcare. They provide protection in most circumstances.

Fluid-Resistant Masks:
These masks are referred to as High Barrier Masks. They provide the greatest protection of masks defined by ASTM. They have the same high filtration of particles and bacteria as the surgical masks but also have an increased fluid-resistance capability at a pressure of 160mm of mercury. These masks are often used where there is a greater risk of fluid-borne infection.

Submicron Filtering Masks:
These masks are often called Surgical Masks. These masks meet minimum filtration for small particles and have increased effectiveness for bacteria. They remain fluid-penetration resistant at a pressure of 120mm of mercury. These masks frequently have a tie-on rather than an ear-loop design.

Returning Your Purchases

Every effort has been made to assemble and pack your order with care. If there is a problem with your order, we would like to rectify it and make sure you are completely satisfied with the result.

Follow these simple steps:

1. Double check the date because some dates stamped on products are the dates of manufacture, not expiration.
2. Please call us at 1-888-533-3032 for a "Return Authorization" (RA) number. Those preferring to consult their sales consultant may do so provided that a RA number is given prior to returning goods for credit and/or repairs.
3. Photocopy your invoice which includes the items to be returned.
4. Write the RA number on the copied invoice.
5. Package the items in a corrugated box to avoid damage during shipping.
6. You can contact us with any questions at 1-888-533-3032.

We will send our designated courier to pick up the item from your office, or you can hand the package to your sales consultant.

Returned items received without prior authorization (RA) may result in the returned item being denied credit and/or repair.

- Items purchased more than 1 year prior are not returnable.
- Items with expiry dates of less than 6 months are not returnable.
